

Name: Cañaveral, Elena Amor M.
Block: BECO 1

Chapter 1 Achieving Good Governance

As a person i can achieve good governance to miyself by applying it to my values just like to be honest at all times as needed and become an accountability individual that can take responsibility for example participating in elections this is our responsibility so we can make a change for our country to vote the right leader ,every vote matters because we are the one that shaped on how the country will be as a citizen.

All of us need governance to ourself like having self awareness understand what is your weakness and strengths so you can know what next move will be, to learn what path to take, practicing good governance to yourself can get you to set clear goals, priorities and values, and then lead you to make good decisions for yourself.

Also as a citizen when about politics we have to know if our governments apply good governance on how they managed the country they have to transparent to earn the trust of people.